Then where would be the revenue?

DURING our stay in Topeka last Friday and Saturday several hundred Pottawattamie Indianes were there for the purpose of receiving payments to the amount of $200,000. So far as we could see they were a well-dressed and well-behaved set of people. There was less drunkenness among them, though a horde of shares tried to work them, than might reasonably have been expected. We doubt that a like number of people of any other race could have been gotten together for the same purpose who would have behaved

THE late Alliance candidate for railroad commissioner, P. B. Maxson, has seen fit to write a letter for the Alliance Advocate in which he charges Gov. Humphrey with lending money to farmers at four per cent a month. We do not believe that the Alliance people should be made copartners with Mr. Maxson 144 000. In the utterance of this libel on the good name of Gov. Humphrey. Maxson speaks for himself, and shows bad taste and worse judgment in thus assailing the Governor, who is an honest man and has clesn hands. He will make Humphrey stronger than ever with the people by thus abusing him, besides disgusting the majority of Alliance men with P. B. Maxon.

EUGENE WARE, the Kansas poet, wrote this little gem, and it embellished the program of a Kansas high school entertainment recently:

POLITICIANS who wish to see Senator Ingalis defeated next winter have started the report that the senator is worth half a million, as if that were a crime. How easy it is to lie! But suppose the Scuator is worth half a million! Where is the man, be he saint or sinner, preacher or layman, a wise man or a fool, that wouldn't be glad of the chance of possessing half a million? That's what we're all rustling for and it is not a crime by any means.

WICHITA Eagle: "In all the resources and requirements that make a people 11ch, wise and great, Kansas has no equal in the history of people in ancient or modern times. You cannot run an imaginary line around one territory upon this earth that contains just one million people thereon that possesses as many torses, cattle and hoge, as much wheat and corn, as many newspapers, and as many miles of railroad as there is upon these beautiful prairies, over half of which, fifteen years ago, and all of it thirty years ago, was in possession of the Indian and the buffalo."
